Rampaging UK Wildcats To Seek Ninth Victory In Clash With Wright Field Saturday

Rupp Will Use Same Lineup In Kittyhawk Game

By Betty Tevis

Kentucky's high-ranking Wildcats will be trying to chalk up a 9-out-of-10-games record when they meet the Wright Field Kittyhawks at 8 tomorrow night in Alumni gym. The University basketball team has lost one game, to the powerful Illinois five, and have won eight, including last Saturday's thriller against Notre Dame which ended in a 55-54 score.

Same Lineup
Coach Adolph Rupp will send his same lineup into the Kittyhawk game, although he stated that he was not pleased with the team's showing against Notre Dame. Schu and Tingle will go in as forwards; Moseley and Johnson will start as forwards; and Brannum will hold down the center post. Wright Field's starters are not known but the Dayton post will probably play boys from every section of the country, as most service teams which the Wildcats have already met have done.

After light shooting practice on Monday, defense on Tuesday, and scrimmage on Wednesday, Coach Rupp announced no injuries and made his usual not-too-encouraging comments on the game's probable outcome.

Game Cancelled
Athletic Director Bernie Shively announced Wednesday that the game with Vanderbilt, a Southeastern conference quintet, has been cancelled for Saturday. Kentucky's highly rated team will probably not have an opportunity to play a single Southeastern conference basketball team this year because of travel conditions, Shively revealed.

Georgia Tech's naval trainees, on 48-hour leave, would be unable to travel to Kentucky, and Rupp is reluctant to schedule a single away-from-home game with the Southern rivals.

Other schools which the University customarily plays are Georgia, Tennessee, Alabama, and Vanderbilt. Tennessee has no hardwood quintet this year and the other schools cannot arrange transportation, although University basketball powers are still trying to negotiate games for later in the season.

Officials in Saturday night's tussle with Wright Field will be John Showalter and John Wiethe. The Kittyhawks' record, which shows only one loss for this season, is as follows:

Wright Field 48, Bowman Field 22
Wright Field 30, Miami U. 57
Wright Field 34, Walker 24
Wright Field 60, Kenyon 31

Sherwood Eddy Opens UK Citizenship Forums

Civic Groups Sponsor Talks On Popular Topics

The University Citizenship forums began Tuesday evening when Sherwood Eddy, noted lecturer, spoke to a full house at the meeting held in the Central Christian church.

These forums, sponsored by the University in cooperation with civic organizations of Georgetown, Lexington, and Paris, have been arranged, says Dr. Leo M. Chamberlain, dean and registrar of the University and member of the board of directors of the Lexington forums, because there are probably a great many adults who might like to discuss topics and matters of interest to all wholly apart from any organized class.

Topics Given
The forum topics will be: How Will the Cost of the War Affect Us?, by Dr. Frank L. McVey, president emeritus of the University; The Allied Nations Conference, by Dr. Henry N. Sherwood, acting head of the political science department; Russia and World Peace, by Dr. J. Huntley Dupre, professor of history; Some Proposed Plans for an Enduring Peace, by Dr. Dupre; British-American Relationships in the Post-War World, by Dr. Sherwood; and What Should Be Done With Germany, by Dr. Dupre.

The University has chosen these topics because they are in the forefront of public thought today, and these men have been selected because they were thought to be especially fitted by training, experience, and ability to do a fine job of presenting such topics on the lecture platform. Each lecture will be followed by a period of discussion led by Dr. Chamberlain in which audience participation is desired.

Begin Jan. 11

The lecture series will be presented in Lexington at the Central Christian church at 8 p.m. on Tuesdays beginning January 11; in Paris at 7:30 p.m. on Mondays beginning January 17; and in Georgetown at 8 p.m. on Thursdays at Garth High school. The registration fee for the entire series is $1.50, and only $1 if paid in advance of the first meeting. Registrations in Lexington may be made at the Extension department in Frazier hall, the Union building, and the dean of women's office, and downtown at the Lafayette and Phoenix hotels.

If the series shows similar success in the Paris and Georgetown groups the University may offer series in other areas on any subject desired by the participants.

A meeting of all reporters, both old and new, will be held in the news room at 2 p.m. Friday.

DR. FRANK L. McVEY . . . will discuss How Will the Cost of War Affect Us? as one of the University Citizenship forums.

DR. HENRY N. SHERWOOD . . . will speak on The Allied Nations Conference and British-American Relationships in the Post-War World in the University Citizenship forums.

Fire Destroys Old Model Barn On Tuesday Night

A fire of undetermined origin destroyed the Old Model beef cattle barn and silo on the University Experiment Station farm Tuesday night about 10 p.m.

Farm Superintendent J. F. Freeman estimated the damage at several thousand dollars. He said the building had been used as a feed barn and contained only loose hay. According to Freeman, the night watchman had found nothing out of order when he made his rounds at 5 p.m. The blaze was first reported about four hours later. When the fire department arrived, they were unable to enter at the narrow gates at the Woodland entrance, and the fire had already gone too far to be brought under control. There were no other buildings close enough to be seriously endangered.

Sweater Swing

The Kampus Kats will furnish the music for the second sweater swing of the winter quarter which will be held at 6 p.m. today in the bluegrass room of the Union building.

SGA Discusses List Of Plans For Quarter

Faculty Members Attend Meeting Of Group Tuesday

Plans for the winter quarter student directory, a war bond drive, proposed panel discussions, and a University clean-up program was discussed Tuesday by the Student Government association planning board which was presided over by Vincent Spagnuolo, president of the SGA.

Attending the meeting were: Dr. Adolph Bigge, SGA faculty advisor; Dr. Margaret Ratliff and Dr. C. C. Ross, SGA faculty members; Dr. M. M. White, assistant dean of arts and sciences college; Alice Jacobson, Danforth graduate; Mrs. Sarah B. Holmes, dean of women; Professor John Kulper, head of the department of philosophy; Dr. Leo M. Chamberlain, dean and registrar of the University; Celia Bederman, editor of The Kernel, and SGA members, Scott Reed, Jimmy Hurt, Bill Barton, and Ray Garrison.

Discussions
The possibility of holding forums or debates on vital state, national, and international issues was discussed. It was decided to schedule speeches on subjects such as labor, post-war problems, repeal of state income tax, and post-war alliances. The probability of success of a campaign for keeping the University clean and for the protection of the buildings and campus grounds was discussed. It was stated that the students should know of the large expenditures made toward beautifying the school.

It was decided to contact a group of transfer students and soldiers who represent all sections of the country to express their views upon how the University might be improved.

Bond Drive
The SGA will cooperate with the War Bond drive which will begin January 18. Last fall the SGA sponsored one of the most successful bond drives ever held on the campus and plans for a similar campaign will be made by the War Bond committee.

Report of the discussions of the planning board will be made by Spagnuolo at the next meeting of the SGA at 7:15 p.m. Tuesday for approval by the Assembly.

Rosalie Oakes Will Speak To Dutch Lunch Club

Miss Rosalie Oakes, secretary of the YWCA, will speak on "A New Year's Wish" at the Dutch Lunch club which will hold its first meeting of the winter quarter at noon today in the Colonial Bowling lanes.

Lexington women, commuters, and those women living in Lexington are invited to sign for lunch before 5 p.m. each Thursday in Miss Oakes' office, room 122, of the Union building.

UK Graduate Shows English

Stars and Stripes, daily newspaper of the Armed forces overseas, cited in its November 20 issue an example proving how far afield some University graduates are.

"First Lieutenant Hansford T. Shacklette, of Waverly, Ky., has shown skeptical English farmers near a station hospital that sweet corn can be grown in their neighborhood," it says.

"When he planted the crop in the hospital's victory garden the English natives told the lieutenant that sweet corn had never been grown in that section and would not mature. The lieutenant, cultivating his crop during off-duty hours, harvested 100 ears of corn and four bushels of tomatoes."

"What the natives didn't know was that Lieut. Shacklette qualifies as an expert on sweet corn, having acquired a B.S. degree in horticulture and an M.S. degree in botany in his pre-Army days at the University of Kentucky."

Movie Will Be Shown To Club

An educational movie, Argentina Primer, dealing with the people of Argentina and their customs will be shown at 6:15 p.m. Wednesday in the Y lounge of the Union. A round table discussion of the picture by members of the Kofee Klub will follow.

All students and soldiers are invited to attend, it was announced.

Registration Stands At 1,318

Registration figures stood at 1,318 Tuesday, with two more days left during which students might enroll, according to the registrar's office. This is 163 less than the 1,481 who registered last quarter, and 1,100 less than the total enrollment for the winter quarter of 1940-41.

Since classes were not closed until January 14, the total enrollment and enrollment as to men and women, classes, and colleges, is not yet available.

W. T. Rowland To Give Talk

Address To Be Second In Series

Dr. W. T. Rowland, superintendent of Lexington Public schools, will review Mark Van Doren's Liberal Education, a book which was written at the request of the Association of American colleges, in the second in the invitation to Reading series. The review will be given at 3 p.m., Thursday, in the Browning room of the University library.

Releasing to The Kernel a brief summary of what he will present at the review, Dr. Rowland said:

Poet Interests
"That a person known best as a poet should be commissioned by the college association to write such a book intrigues one's interest at the outset. Perhaps it is well that this book has been brought out just at this time by a person other than one who has spent years in administering education in a college. One who has made educational theory a life's work, Mr. Van Doren, with his wide knowledge of the world's great literature, the soul of a poet and facility as a literary critic, is in position to present an objective view on his thesis."

Volume Short
"The volume is short and for the most part can be appreciated by the casual reader for its own value. For those who have a responsibility for the proper education of youth it is stimulating in its power to reawaken what has been prevented to become dormant, and it reveals a beckoning door opening into a more realistic conception of what liberal education should be and has been represented by recent practice."

Frank C. Fowler, director of the Gignoul theater, read "The Silence of the Sea," by an anonymous French author, yesterday.

Vogt, Barton Are Candidates For Committee Head

Election of a chairman of the dance committee of the Union board will be held Friday, January 21, it was announced yesterday. The election is being held to fill the vacancy left by Jay C. Doyle, who is no longer in school.

Nominees for the position are Maryann Vogt, education senior from Louisville, and Bill Barton, arts and sciences junior from Williamsburg. Both are independents.

Soldiers stationed at the University, as well as regular students, are urged to vote, according to Edith Welschberger, president of the Board.

Voting will be conducted between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. in the Great hall of the Union buildings.

Sororities Set Second Bid Day

Tomorrow will be the second quarter bid day for sororities. Women may pick up their bids between 10 a.m. and 12 noon, in the dean of women's office. Sororities must have their bids in the office by 9 a.m. and no preference cards will be signed.

Faculty Club Needs

The Faculty club needs two students, either men or women, to wait on tables during the noon hour, it has been announced. Persons interested are asked to apply at the club at 12 noon.

Reports Discussed

Reports on the Student Planning Conference on the World Mission of the Church which was held at Wooster, Ohio, from December 28 to January 3 will be discussed at 6:15 p.m. Tuesday at the Y Junior-Senior fellowship by Carolyn Spicer, Helen Harrison, and Norman Christman.

Field House Hopes Grow Dim As Appropriations Bill Omits Fund Requested For Building

'44 Kyian Showing Changes In Campus Activities Slated To Be Distributed March 15

Eubanks Trial Is Postponed

Wilson Says Delay Necessary

The suit of Charles Lamont Eubank, Louisville Negro seeking admission as a student at the University, has been continued to the next term of Federal District court. A change in the State administration made the delay necessary, he said.

Eubank first filed suit in 1941, asking for admission to the University and charging that he had been denied admission to the engineering college in violation of his rights under the United States Constitution.

In opposition, the University contends that state law prohibits Negroes and whites from attending the same classes and maintained that facilities were available for Eubanks at the Kentucky State College for Negroes at Frankfort.

Russia Topic Of Dr. Eddy

Dr. Sherwood Eddy, author and lecturer, spoke to students at 11 a.m. Wednesday in Frazier hall, in an informal discussion of cooperatives and the Russian form of government. Dr. Thomas Clark introduced the speaker.

Discussing the federal government's cooperative farm in Mississippi, Dr. Eddy pointed out the success of a plan in which Whites and Negroes worked together. He stressed the fact that consumers' cooperatives have been successful but producers co-ops have not met with success in this country.

His analysis of the Russian form of government as contrasted to that of the United States resolved into a statement that Russia's strong points, justice and brotherhood of man, were our weak points; and Russia's weak points, lack of liberty and religion on the part of the ruling class, were our strong points.

This Wednesday morning talk was the second in a series of discussions slated this week on the University campus.

Lost, Found Department In Union Reports

The lost and found department of the Union building has several articles which the owner may have in room 121 of the Union building. The articles will be disposed of if not claimed within the next ten days, it was announced.

Among the articles are bracelets, checkbooks, cigarette case, coin purses, formal, earrings, sun glasses, reading glasses, 12 pairs of gloves, 4 single gloves, gym suit, men's handkerchiefs, knife, lipstick, pencils, pens, pins, rosaries, scarfs, umbrellas, and vanities.

Women To Form Billiard Team

Women who are interested in forming a coed billiard team are asked to report to room 121, Union building, according to Mrs. John R. Evans, social director of the Union. The team will participate in a tournament in the near future, she said.

K-Dets Meet

K-dets, women's drill team, will meet at 5 p.m. Tuesday in Buell armory, Pfc. John Dallava announced. New women interested should attend.

Delay Is Due To Difficulties Of Wartime Problems

The Kentuckian will not be distributed until March 15, due to technical reasons and wartime difficulties, Virginia Long, editor, announced today.

Following the theme of a "Woman's World," the annual will show the changes in the campus activities and how the majority of them are now carried on by co-ed membership. A pattern to correspond with the theme will be sketched on the cover in blue, resting on a white background.

There will be four divisions consisting of administration and classes, activities, sororities and fraternities, and features. A separate index page will appear for the convenience of the readers.

Besides these, a fraternity section with about six groups will be included. There will also be a definite informal section made up of random shots of both students and soldiers. The page size, being regulation, will be the same as it was last year.

Six hundred copies were sold during the advance sales, and nine hundred will be ordered. They will be on sale for $4.50 a copy not only to the regular University students, but to the soldiers that are stationed here and wish them also.

The complete material will reach the engravers at the end of this week, and printing will begin immediately afterwards, Miss Long stated.

Latin America Is Discussed

United States relations with Latin America was the subject on which Dr. Edgar Fisher, of the Institute of International Education, spoke at 4 p.m. Wednesday in the Music room of the Union building.

The United States' unilateral interpretation of the Monroe Doctrine and ignorance on the part of both countries are the principal causes of the clouded relations between the Latin American countries, according to Dr. Fisher.

The "Good Neighbor" policy, which was begun during Hoover's administration and which has been strengthened by President Roosevelt, together with the exchange of college students, has brought about decided improvement in the relationship between the two sections, the speaker pointed out. We have finally seen that we need Latin America as much as it does us, he explained.

Dr. Fisher, who visited the University campus for the first time last year, spoke earlier in the afternoon to faculty members of the College of Education and met with the Latin American students at the University at 5 p.m. for a dinner meeting.

Business Staff Meets Today

There will be an important meeting of the Kernel business staff at 3 p.m. today in the Kernel business office, according to an announcement made by Betty Bohannon, business manager.

Make 3. Standings

Lorraine Turk, Westport, Conn., and Sarah Gay Hall, Lexington, were the only freshmen in the arts and sciences college to make a 3. standing, it was announced by the office of Dr. M. M. White, assistant dean of the college.

Names of upperclassmen making perfect standings have not as yet been announced.

SuKy Tryouts

SuKy tryouts must be at Alumni gymnasium at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, it was announced by Bill Nickell, president.

Mention Not Made In Budget Given To Legislature

Kentucky's hopes for an auditorium-field house virtually vanished this week when the appropriations bill, introduced in the Legislature to carry out Gov. Simeon S. Willis' recommendations, omitted the requested fund for the building.

The budget proposed by the legislative committee was virtually in line with requests submitted by Dr. Herman L. Donovan, president of the University, with the exception of $300,000 for capital outlay. This capital outlay fund included money for an extensive building program, which had as its primary project the auditorium-field house.

"Disappointed"
"Naturally we are disappointed because we didn't get the field house," Dr. Donovan stated, after saying that, "The appropriations bill includes the recommendations of the Board of Trustees except for the field house fund."

When asked if he thought there was a possibility that the fund might be put back into the bill before its final passage by the Legislature, the president declared that he could make no statement.

Peterson Explains
Frank D. Peterson, comptroller of the University, explained that the appropriations committee approved an operations and maintenance budget which is approximately $130,000 more than last year's allotment. However, he stated, this fund cannot be used for building purposes.

Expressing his regret over the elimination of the field house appropriation, Peterson said, "We are very much disappointed and would like to see an appropriation made for the field house that would be made available for use during the second year of the biennium."

Herald Comments
The Lexington Herald, commenting in its editorial columns upon the omission of the appropriation, said:

"A field house for the University of Kentucky is not in any way a luxury for either the state or the University. It is a necessity essential to modern education. A university without an adequate building for use as a gymnasium and auditorium is sadly handicapped. Army training camps throughout the country all have massive auditoriums, convertible to many Question: How does Kentucky weather appeal to you?

Pvt. Bob Greenwood, Kinkead hall: It seems to me that Southerners have been spreading unfair propaganda when boasting about their weather. Thanks to the Army, I've been enlightened in this respect as well as in a great many other things.

Louise School, A.S. Junior: Compared to Ohio, it's pretty good.

Pvt. Tom Snyder, Kinkead hall: It's not too cold and it's not too hot.

Pvt. Jim Smith, Bradley hall: All the California boys should feel right at home in this lovely rain.

Gene Swartz, ASTP: From where I'm standing it looks pretty good.

Susan Fisher, A.S. Junior: It's all right, but Pennsylvania is more consistent, it doesn't waver around. When it's cold, it's cold.

Anne Hayhurst, A.S. sophomore: It's just fine, because it's just like home (Pennsylvania).

Pvt. Stan Prosen, Kinkead hall: It's not cold enough - I'm from Minnesota.

Pfc. Richard Liberty, Patterson hall: It's too cold when it snows and too warm when it's warm.

Pvt. Ray Stockstill, Kinkead hall: It gets more like Wyoming every day.

Ann Garst, A.S. sophomore: It doesn't, because I miss those good old Virginia sunshiny Sundays.

Pvt. James Wilson, Bradley hall: It's a mixture of California and New York sunshine.

Gene Carl, A.S. freshman: It rains too much and I want some snow.

Pvt. David Hochman, Kinkead hall: It's wonderful, warmer and wetter than Chicago.

Your Money Is Needed Now

January 18 marks the beginning of the Fourth War Loan Drive. The people of the United States will be called upon to invest $14,000,000,000 in War Bonds. The SGA Victory Committee has begun work on plans to put the campus campaign across, and they need and must have your cooperation.

If you think that you have already bought enough bonds, if you think that the government doesn't need the small sum which you can invest—you are wrong. There has never been a time when the "This Means You" sign has been more appropriate. YOU must do YOUR share.

Don't just buy a few stamps and quit, it that is all you can really afford. If you don't have the money to buy a bond, induce somebody else to buy one.

Money to finance the war might be obtained more easily from large corporate investors and banks, rather than from your slim pocketbook. But money obtained from banks will only win the war, it will not win the peace. To successfully fight inflation, money must be drawn out of current spending power and invested in War Bonds.

It is simple arithmetic that shows that a problem will be created when the estimated national income for 1944, minus taxes, of 126 billion dollars is contrasted with the 90 billion dollars worth of consumer goods and services available.

Consumers must either save the difference of 36 billion dollars, or lose it to higher prices.

What Goes On There..

Driver For All Purposes
Four Auburn girls had just returned from vacationing. Seeing a car driven by a man with a visored cap, they made their way blindly through the rain from the depot toward it.

"To the PIKA house, please," said the girls. "Please put our bags in the car." While the driver struggled in the rain with the suitcases, the girls crawled in the back seat.

A few minutes later in front of the PIKA house the driver stopped and said, "Guess you girls will have to step over a little water by the curb there."

"Drive closer to the curb, can't you?" ordered the passengers. This he did.

"And don't forget our baggage." The driver again obliged. "How much is the fare, please?" asked the four.

The driver replied that he couldn't take their money. "You see, ladies, this isn't a taxi. It's a police car." Grinning, the policeman doffed his visored cap and drove away. Nice fellow!

You Don't Say
Princeton has a fossil of a bat said to be 60,000,000 years old!

Emory University is believed to be the only university in the world whose main buildings are constructed entirely of marble.

The University of Montana has a 1000-acre classroom—the forestry school's lab in Pate Canyon!

Navy Coach
Ensign Oliver Hunter, former Notre Dame two-miler, is the new athletic officer of Columbia University's V-7 Naval Training Station and will compete on the indoor track circuits whenever his duties permit.

Joys Of Being A Professor

Dr. Woodburn O. Ross of the English department of Wayne University has tried out most of the methods listed in the book: to get to his 9:30 class on time. He has attempted to drive his car to school but can never find a place to park—so by the time he has driven around the block a few times and parked several blocks away he is usually ten minutes late.

He tried to be shy one day and park behind the building. There was a parking place, but that time he spent his ten minutes trying to get one of the Rackham sentries to let him in the back way, and he found the hike to the front entrance a little wearing. This plan was then deserted. Now he uses the DSR, but the only difficulty is that he can never persuade them to pick him up.

His class extends its sympathy to their suffering instructor, and rest assured that they can count on a short class period.

Nice Going!
The Penn State basketball team had not been beaten on their home court since West Virginia handed them a 35-29 setback on February 5, 1941, until Bucknell handed them a defeat in the first game of the season.

Who Wanted to Major in Journalism Anyway?

Flying Captain Looks Forward To Campus Visit

New Guinea

DEAR MR. SULZER:

Looks as if it might not be too long before I'll be seeing you, and the many of my other UK friends. It has been a long time since I walked over the campus. I can hardly wait to drop in at the grill for a coke, and for some of that wonderful college spirit. The so-called "little" things like those are missed most over here.

Only a short while ago I returned from a short leave to Sydney, Australia, where I had a grand time. It is a wonderful town. The people are very hospitable. When I returned here I found all kinds of good news. I had been appointed squadron bombardier, and recommended for a captaincy. And incidentally, the promotion came through on the sixteenth of this month. Kind of proud of it. The other news item applies to the fact that I am to leave for the States sometime next month. Certainly hope nothing happens to prevent it. I can hardly wait to see if it will really come true! Sixteen months over here is enough of this place for me. I am ready to return to civilization.

While in Sydney I was on an Armistice Day program broadcast from the Red Cross Service club. The program was re-broadcast in the states sometime later. Mutual was to have carried it. I wonder if you heard it over WLAP? Mutual's representative in Sydney is a very fine man.

Good luck to you. And give my regards to Elizabeth Doyle.

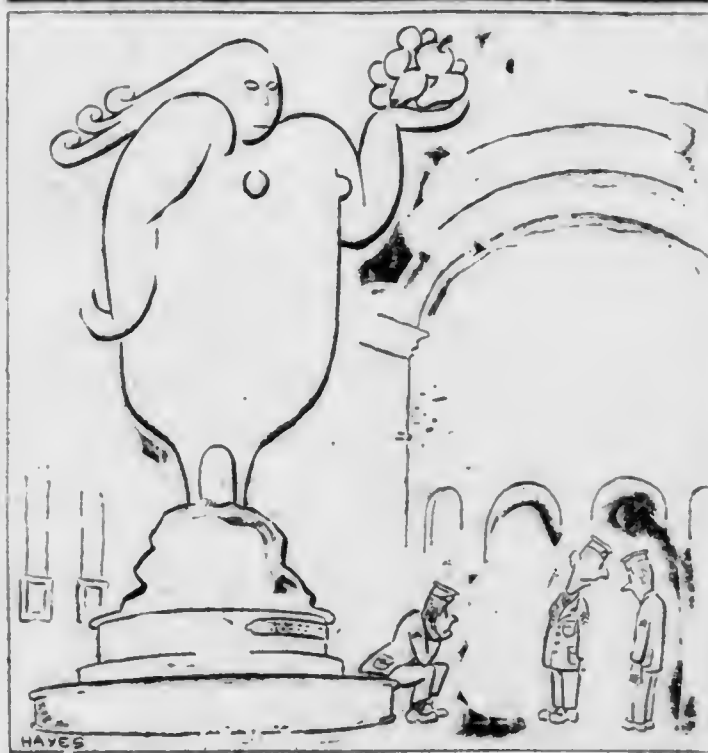

Most sincerely,
CAPT. JIM W. CRAIG, JR.

"He's disillusioned about women, poor chap."

ODE TO MAYHEM

By Donald Lail

It was a great, great time that everyone had in good Louisville, whether they remember it or not. After the hair-raising incidents which led to Notre Dame going back to their little home in Indiana, the Wildcats marched on to bigger and better things.

After the game most of the UK fans proceeded to tear up dear old Louisville, as was plainly seen in Ye Olde Cottage and Tavern.

Slip of the Week

One Kilmer Combs, a budding young law student, was seen rushing frantically around just before the train left here. He had just discovered that one needs tickets to get into a game. Rumor has it that he got into the game by using the old key-hole method (sorta pouring oneself in). Of course he could have thought that a student book was where they take bets on horses. You knock three times and ask for "Dee."

Award of the Week

It has been the custom of this column in the past to present to little known figures on the campus a small and unique award, which is seldom, because our budget won't allow it, but it's a nice thought, anyway.

The first prize this week goes to "Streamlined" Van Horn, a Delta Chi character from East Maxwell and South Broadway. The streamlining has come to the special attention of the art department, the organization which converted the grill into "Our Blue Heaven." Mr. Van Horn's award for being a particularly outstanding member of the higher "animal" clan is a box of drawing pencils (B - variety), which are bound to improve the user with practice.

Things to Wonder About

Why the water at the KS house is too cold to wash with.

Why Bill Barion hasn't run for governor yet, with our one and only "Spag" as his right hand man.

What that certain something is about Howard Dever that makes the dean chooses not to permit?

"Yesterday is gone—forget it. Tomorrow never comes—don't worry.

Today is here—Get Busy."

He's Got What It Takes!

"If it's still and quiet, I can hear the echo from a steel post as I walk by." This was the remark of Howard Hanson, South Dakota State College student, who lost his sight seven years ago. Although Howard has not been on the campus long, it is possible for him to walk about the campus alone. By using a Braille slate he is able to take class notes. A stylus is used to punch the paper. Words must be spelled backwards and written from right to left so that when the paper is turned over for reading, the sentences are in proper order.

Howard is able to keep abreast of the latest of fiction by using talking books, which are loaned by the Library of Congress. These books are recordings on which a reader has transcribed the complete book. For recreation, Howard plays all card games, and the trombone. Riding bicycles, ice skating, and dancing are other accomplishments. Enrolled as a General Science student, Howard is not quite certain what field of study he will pursue, but law or the ministry are likely choices.

Another of These Professors . . . Heaven Bless Them!

His brisk and friendly manner make Prof. Richard A. Sherman a favorite with his Spanish students at Indiana U. Informality reigns in Senior Sherman's classes and sometimes more than half the period is spent in discussing some topic only remotely concerned with Spanish. He is an entertainer as well as a teacher.

When he begins chuckling to himself and glancing out of the window, students know it is time to settle back and prepare for a story. Such stories usually begin "Say, did you ever hear the one about . . ." Another of his favorite expressions when he is in a particularly jovial mood is "You know, I don't always feel this silly. Thursday is the only day."

Weak eyes have caused Mr. Sherman to be kindly dubbed the "Wiley Post of the Spanish department, since he frequently wears a patch over one eye. That only adds more color and interest to this already distinctive figure, however.

He dislikes grading examinations and for that reason, gives the fewest possible. It is almost amazing the way his classes cover more material than the average class, learn just as much, and still have a good time. He's one in a million!

Ad Libbing

A company A soldier was sitting in the dispensary the other day when a colonel breezed through and barked at him. "What's the matter with you, boy?"

Trembling with fright, our friend jumped to his feet and replied in a wavering voice. "Sir, my cavities just dropped out." While everyone else roared with laughter, the colonel moved on, muttering. We think he'll be more careful next time about frightening the meek of company A.

We would just like to know who is responsible for letting the dog in Jewell hall Sunday night. It seems that a couple of girls on the second floor dragged the poor pup into a bath tub and gave him the scrubbing of his life about 2:00 a.m. When quizzed about the reason for all the mayhem at that unearthly hour, one girl only said, "You should have seen him—he was a beautiful snowy white."

Have you seen Kentucky play a really good basketball team this year?

Kentucky plays many of the country's top-notch teams as home games. Your athletic books were good for these games. Have you seen them? Kentucky played Indiana University on December 11. Kentucky played Notre Dame on January 8.

Kentucky will play Great Lakes Naval Training Station soon.

These games were played or will be played at LOUISVILLE!

We are students at the University. The basketball team is OUR team—yet with transportation restricted we are unable to see our own team play its top games. Louisville will have the southeastern conference tourney February 21-26 when they can see Kentucky and other conference teams perform — is that not sufficient? Kentucky has played eight games this season but only THREE were played on the floor of the Alumni gym—those with Berea College, the University of Cincinnati, and Fort Knox.

We are wondering why the athletic department of the University doesn't change its address from Alumni Gym, Lexington, to The Armory, Louisville.

Winter Carnival was the sports mulec conducted on the long, long walk behind Pat and Boyd halls last Saturday afternoon. Far more hazardous than the obstacle course were the perilous trips down the walk on foot, on a board, or draped over a sled — but they loved it. Your correspondent took a running leap and coasted a bare 25 yards before whacking the snow with an awful thud. Casualties of the day include: one broken sidewalk, one broken collar-bone, one black eye, and one very, very sore journalist.

At the meeting of the SGA planning board Tuesday a discussion on the efficiency of the cafeteria took place.

Said Kernel ed, Celia Bederman: "I heard that a girl found a worm on a piece of lettuce today."

Queried Dr. C. C. Ross, education professor, blandly: "And tell me, did she have to turn in meat points after that?"

Now that this is Leap Year it seems that the soldiers on the campus are getting scared to death and drawing within themselves. Company C is following Company A's lead by giving a stag party tomorrow night at the Phoenix. Reports are that they are going all out and planning a most elaborate entertainment—to say nothing of the traditional beer which will be served a-plenty.

All Departments Will Offer Full Civilian Courses

All departments of the University will offer full civilian schedules for the winter quarter in addition to the classes for the 1,100 enlisted men in the Army Specialized Training program. Dr. Herman L. Donovan, president of the University, has announced.

Dr. Donovan emphasizes that college education is growing more important every day, and that "to be known as a college student will be most invaluable to a person inducted into the Army." He suggested that all young men should take at least a quarter of college work between their high school graduation and their Army induction whenever possible.

There are ample residence accommodations for the women students on campus, since the school took over a number of the fraternity houses last fall and remodeled and refurnished them for use as women's residence units, he said.

Alpha Xi Delta's Entertain Rushees

Actives and pledges of Alpha Xi Delta entertained a group of rushees and alumnae with a night club party Monday night at the chapter house.

Furniture was moved out of the living room, sun porch, and dining room, and a bar and tables were set up. "Drinks" were served throughout the evening from "wine lists."

A floor show, consisting of songs, dances, and novelty numbers, was presented late in the evening.

Arrangements were made by Miss Margaret Stokes, rush chairman; Mrs. James Stapp, alumna; and Miss Eleanor Bach.

Open House Sunday

An open house will be held at 5 p.m. Sunday at the home of Dr. T. C. Eton, pastor of Calvary Baptist church, in honor of the Georgetown college Baptist Student Union, who will present a program at 6:15 p.m. at the church.

Coed Corner...

By Mary Jane Gallaher

The cold weather is proving too much for your expert on what the well-dressed coed should take off where—or should the show start before we get to the end of the runway. Gertie? I am about to become a foreign correspondent—my next epistle will be from the back of a bootlegger's truck to Florida. (We're bottling and transporting the stuff ourselves.) And do you think a one- or two-piece bathing suit is more glamorous? On toothpicks and wash tubs you'd better let drape what will, Mabel.

On To Spring

Sitting here with a hot water bottle in my lap and all the clothes I can take away from the moths on my back, my thoughts turn to spring. This apparition was brought about by the sight of a hat in a "Main Drive" store window. Hats and spring are synonymous in my mind. I know at this point all you can think of are scarfs and ear muffs to keep your shell-like hearing apparatus from dropping off, but let us commence upon the day dreaming which you regularly practice in your classes.

For spring this year, we've had a preview, they are showing small hats of shiny, rough straw with quills and feathers of all shapes and types. For those of you who feel like Pocahontas every once in a while when you are pursuing Aladdin's Commandos about, these bonnets should suit your mood. They will present a very snappy appearance, particularly with a suit or gay print dress. And you can wear them way into the summer months. The lids that honestly have us countin' our hard-earned pennies are the flower and veil creations.

A rose and yards of fluffy gauze-violets and fish net to the waist. So much fun and so up lifting for the morale. (Anything that you can hide your face behind is up lifting. Eminence.)

Make It Yourself

If you're at all clever with your dainty thumbs might we suggest that you go a little easy on the cash box and droop yourself a turban for much less. Take some veiling—and a becoming shade, please—tuck flowers, feathers, or cleverly arranged material into your crowning glory and, presto, it passes for a headpiece in the best of company. A little practice and you'll find you can whip up matching bonnets for every outfit. This should be pie for you home co-eds—here's where you come into your own. Veils and flowers are very flattering as you will discover, and we promise if they aren't too far off the beam your soldier will get that old glow even though he criticizes your efforts.

Dress Up

A word now to the side about hats and Saturday-go-to-meet clothes, fens. Strictly off the record, but a slight shove in the right direction. When you have that all important Saturday night date with your out-of-town-a-week-man, do dress up full tilt even if just for Rose street or the movies. Remember he looks at you all week in those sloppy sweaters and dirty shoes. He can get enough of a good thing and a change helps—especially if for the better. Do go all out with feminine headgear, earrings, stockings, and as high heels as you can comfortably walk in. He'll appreciate it and variety is the spice of life. If he starts takin' out another woman, you'll find that out.

Here's A Toast To Winter With Its Drizzle And Drip

A toast to winter—with drizzle and drip. And your bright red nose and chapping lip.

The snow is gone, but the ground's still white. With Kleenex, that put up a gallant fight.

A duet you engage in with businesslike sneezes. To the whistle of Neville's drafty breezes.

You have a date with a dream in dazzling blue.

Wildcats Upset Irish, 55-54 In 'Thriller' Of The Season

Notre Dame Falls Before Ruppmen For Second Time

Proving that they can "do it again," the University Wildcats upset the Notre Dame Irish 55-54, for the second consecutive year at Louisville Saturday night. One of the most thrilling games of the year, it was described as sending "7,500 spectators reeling out of the Jefferson County armory with their fingernails gnawed to the nub."

The death blow in this, the most important triumph of the teen-age Kentuckians, was dealt Notre Dame in the final 37 seconds when Bob Brannum, the high-scoring center from Kansas, dropped in a crisp shot that tied the score at 54-54, and then calmly made a free throw that gave the Wildcats the advantage.

To score the first of these winning shots, Brannum stole the ball from Notre Dame's Todorovich and raced under the basket for a crisp, Todorovich fouled him on the shot, settling up the deciding free throw.

With both teams playing fast-paced ball, the lead changed six times before the final whistle blew. For Kentucky fans the game was an exhilarating victory, since the 'Cats were behind by four points with less than three minutes to play but managed to fight their way to the top in a spectacular comeback.

Although Brannum came through with the winning markers, little Walter Johnson, of Mt. Sterling, fired the Wildcats from the very start and set a scorching pace that burned through every Irish obstacle. Dumping in 15 points, he tied Notre Dame's Todorovich for high-point laurels. Brannum ran a close second with 14 and Jack Tingle, Kentucky forward, tallied 12.

At the start of the contest Todorovich got the tip-off for Notre Dame but Tingle grabbed the ball and in less than 10 seconds, Johnson had sneaked in a crisp, Tingle made a long shot and Kentucky was leading by 4-0 before the Irish and the spectators realized that the game had begun. The boys from Indiana came right back, however, and soon had the game tied. Kentucky went ahead by 6-4, but the Irish were more successful at shooting and managed to get a 14-9 lead. Plunging relentlessly and taking their rebounds skillfully, the Wildcats shoved ahead once more and led 29-26 at the half.

In the free-shooting game, the Irish seemed particularly well equipped for sleight-of-hand shots. Leo Klier, their captain and forward, Australia's population of 7,000,000 is only 2 per square mile of the continent.

There are approximately 1.77 police department employees per 1,000 inhabitants in cities over 25,000.

To land a single soldier fully equipped in North Africa required seven tons of shipping, and one and a half tons a month thereafter.

Ready for a CAREER in 28 WEEKS?

• Yes, that is what has already happened and is happening to the students in our new accelerated wartime course at the Retail Bureau.

If, in January, you are completing your junior year in acceptable standing in liberal arts, business administration, or education, you can transfer to Pitt's Retail Bureau for your senior year and still receive a Bachelor's degree. You start on February 2, 1944, and 28 weeks later—in September—you are trained and ready for a job in the retail field. If you are a senior and are being graduated in January, you may take the 28-week course and be eligible for a Master in Letters degree in September. If you are an upper-classman and have successfully completed two years of college, you may take the 28-week course without receiving a degree.

You will be earning while you are learning, because you will have a steady income for the supervised work you do in the Pittsburgh stores as a part of your Bureau training. And your career will be well under way before you finish the course—a career with an unlimited future.

Other new semesters will start in June and in September under this wartime program. Send for Bureau Bulletin C and an application form.

ward, kept pitching and while he didn't connect enough to be a serious menace, he had free-wheeling, one-hand shot that seemed to have a self-adjusting path. No matter where he aimed from, the ball always landed somewhere close to the hoop.

To move Brannum away from the basket and cut down on the Blue and White's defensive rebounding, Todorovich often shifted out to forward and was replaced at pivot by Klier, who stationed himself near the hoop in the free-throw lane and heaved numerous shots. Although Brannum didn't go the entire time at center, he played a great pressure game when in action. Todorovich was a tough defensive man and was probably the most effective center Brannum has faced this season.

Jack Parkinson, Kentucky substitute guard, also played well and scored six points.

Both teams stressed offense throughout the entire period and consequently made many defensive errors. While Johnson was racking up 15 points, for example, he allowed Loyd to gain 14, but it was a better-than-even exchange since the Kentucky player was a more vital all-around factor than Loyd.

Starting the second half, the 'Cats put in two quickies and took a 33-26 lead, but the Irish rallied strongly. Through most of the last 20 minutes the Wildcats led but never by a run-away margin.

With four minutes left the Irish tied the score, 48-48, and the heat was on. Klier knocked in a rebound from the side to put Notre Dame in front by 50-48, but Brannum rebounded a shot and tied the score again. Todorovich sneaked in an underhand attempt and sent Notre Dame ahead, 52-50. Rutledge, who up to that time had been just another player, dropped in a crisp, giving the Irish a 54-50 lead and what appeared to be an iron-clad grip on the decision.

After Brannum made his memorable steal that resulted in the game-bagging crisp and foul shot, the 'Cats froze the ball tighter than Clifton pond on a 10-below day.

Lieutenant Steele Killed In Action In Italian Theater

First Lieut. Henry Patterson Steele, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Steele of Lexington, has been killed in action in the Italian theater of war, his parents have been informed.

Lieutenant Steele, a veteran of the African, Sicilian, and Italian campaigns, was on a bombing and strafing mission when he met death, the War Department stated. He had been reported missing on Oct. 6.

Twenty-six years old, Lieutenant Steele was an engineering student at the University prior to entering the Army. In addition to his parents, he is survived by two sisters.

Rutledge fouled Parkinson and the 'Cats took the ball out of bounds, and when Notre Dame again gained possession of it, the game had ended.

To show the hectic pace of the game, it might be remarked that the Wildcats took 90 shots at the basket and the Irish took 96. That makes a total of 186 heaves, or more than enough to keep three or four average teams moving pretty fast. The 'Cats scored on 24 of their 90 shots for a 26.6 percentage and Notre Dame hit 22 out of 96, or 22.9.

For Kentucky, the scorers were: Schu, forward, five; Tingle, forward, 12; Brannum, center, 14; Moseley, guard, one; Johnson, guard, 15; Parkinson, guard, six; DeMolsey, center, two.

For Notre Dame, they were: Loyd, forward, 14; Klier, forward, 13; Todorovich, center, 15; Rutledge, guard, six; Kelly, guard, six.

Hopes Vanish As Bill Is Presented

uses and in use all the time. More teaching is done through loudspeakers and on screens than in old-fashioned classrooms.

"Furthermore, gymnasiums are as necessary as laboratories and libraries. The appropriation for a field house, cut from the current budget, ought to be restored."

Trustees Plan
At the last meeting of the University Board of Trustees it was agreed that the institution would seek an appropriation of $1,775,750 for this year. The appropriation included in the proposed bill was $1,026,300. The agriculture college was allotted $26,400; summer school, $11,000; repairs, $33,000; strawberry marketing-labelling, $1,500; agricultural extension work, $170,500; horticulture, $10,000; library equipment, $22,000; home economics equipment, $11,000; Experiment station, $55,000; tobacco research, $8,250; service laboratory, $23,100; nursery inspection, $2,000; Princeton sub-station, $17,600; Quicksand sub-station, $17,600.

Speaking at the meeting of the Board, Dr. Donovan had urged, as he has so often done in the past, the erection of a commodious auditorium-field house as an "appropriate memorial . . . that would be a constant reminder to the youth of the commonwealth that brave men died in the defense of freedom that they might enjoy the liberties guaranteed by a democracy."

The building, long desired by University officials and students, was to have been erected on property already obtained by the University on the north side of Euclid avenue facing Stoll field. During the fall, 78 small rent houses which stood on this property were razed.

Prospects Up For Football

Prospects for a football team next season at the University, along with other schools in the Southeastern Conference, rose this week when Athletic Director Bernie Shively announced that UK has decided to sponsor a squad if enough boys are available.

Steps Taken

Preliminary steps for arranging a schedule have been taken, he said. "It is our intention to have a football team," Shively explained, "and we are going to have one if enough boys are on hand to make up a squad. They would practically all be 17-year-olds, but most of the other schools who sponsor football would be in the same situation."

Although the sport was dropped this fall by a majority of the Southeastern schools because of the shortage of players, Shively stated that he believed that several other Conference schools will try to sponsor teams next year.

Kirwan Available

If the University is represented on the gridiron next fall, both Shively, who served as line coach, and Ab Kirwan, who was head coach, will be available for coaching duties as they are members of the University faculty.

Last fall was the first time in 53 years of football at the institution that the Wildcats did not participate in the sport.

Auburn, considered previously as one of the more doubtful schools, announced officially its hopes to have a team which indicated wholesale resumption of formal football this fall by Southeastern Conference members.

Two Exceptions

All conference members with the exception of Mississippi State and the University of Mississippi indicated that they would field some sort of a team.

"We are giving serious, diligent, and careful consideration to the possibility of renewing football," said President L. N. Duncan of Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Auburn, in an address at Birmingham.

"Auburn wants to resume football. It is the desire of the athletic committee, as it is my desire, to have a team even if we do not have an outstanding team. We believe in intercollegiate sports and recognize their value to the boys who participate in them."

Head Coach Jack Meagher is now a lieutenant commander in the Navy, and practically all of Auburn's assistant coaches are in the armed forces which highly complicates Alabama Poly's problem.

Four Played

Regular schedules were played last fall by four conference teams, Georgia, Georgia Tech, Louisiana State University, and Tulane. Alabama and Vanderbilt had informal elevens.

Coach Frank Thomas of Alabama said today, "We are going to make every effort to play formal football." John Barnhill, Tennessee's head coach, declared that prospects are good for resumption of play by the Volunteer school.

New Horizons for a Greater Industrial South

WHILE destructive battles rage in large areas of the world, a different story is being written in our Southland . . . a story of new industrial achievement, of things yet to come in the stirring world of tomorrow.

The South stands hopefully on the threshold of a new era . . . dreaming of vaster industrial and agricultural expansion. From its fabulous raw resources the laboratories of private industry have in late years wrought miracles of production. Agricultural products have blossomed into new kinds of fabrics, building materials and amazingly useful plastics. New markets and new wealth have been created for southern farmers, commerce and labor. Even now the South boasts many of the largest plants in their respective fields in the world!

Already a major factor in America's arsenal of war production, the South looks forward to a tomorrow filled with peace, security and happiness . . . a tomorrow when the American Spirit of Free Enterprise will build a Greater Industrial South for the betterment of all mankind.
